In today's fast-paced job market, many job seekers struggle to match their skills with what employers actually need. At the same time, employers face challenges finding the right talent, leading to mismatched hires and longer hiring processes. Our DBMS-based platform is designed to close this gap by providing a practical and user-friendly solution.

The platform helps users identify the skills required for their dream job through personalized recommendations. It also generates a clear career roadmap, guiding them step by step on how to build these skills through training, certifications, and hands-on experience. To further boost their employability, users can create tailored, professional resumes using templates and guidelines provided, ensuring they stand out to employers.

By combining these features, the platform makes it easier for fresh graduates and job seekers to understand what's needed to succeed, take actionable steps toward their goals, and connect with the right opportunities. Ultimately, it bridges the divide between education and employment, giving users the tools and confidence they need to thrive in the job market.
